The move comes as the Zimbabwean opposition leader is in a critical condition after two days in an intensive care unit. Meanwhile, President Robert Mugabe's Zanu PF party has organized a rally on Thursday where the government plans to announce its three-year plan for the country, which it will present to the Zimbabwean public, as Tsvangirai is admitted to hospital. The Zanu PF rally is expected to be attended by Mugabe. Leaders of the opposition say a 12-year-old peace deal, signed last year between Tsvangirai's Movement for Democratic Change (MDC) party and Mugabe's Zanu PF party, has helped stabilize the country. Tsvangirai, 65, is being treated at the Parirenyatwa Hospital in Harare for a respiratory tract infection that has caused respiratory failure, his spokesman said Tuesday. Zimbabwean President Robert Mugabe and his wife Grace attend a charity dinner in Zimbabwean capital Harare on May 16. Mr. Tsvangirai is in a critical condition, but he is breathing on his own and is expected to make a recovery, an MDC official said Tuesday. Mr. Tsvangirai has repeatedly dismissed rumors that he is resigning as prime minister, although an end to the peace deal would destabilize the country. Zimbabwean newspaper The Herald on Tuesday named Mugabe's wife Grace as the first wife
